

Cell Phone Cozy

Written by Crafty Reason

<http://craftyreason.com>

Terms/Abbreviations:

Ch: Chain

Hdc: Half Double Crochet

St: Stitch

Beg: Beginning (first stitch)

You will need:

Sizes H/8mm and G/4mm crochet hooks worsted weight scrap yarn

button (optional)

yarn needle

scissors

Pattern Notes:

You will be crocheting in a continuous spiral—do not join with a slip stitch at the end of each row.

Measure the device you're making the cozy for when you make your starting chain, making sure you have an even number of stitches. You can decide whether to make it snug (sock-style) or looser (bag-style).

The button closure is especially helpful for the looser bag-style, but I use it for my snug sock-style cozy too.

Use a stitch marker at the end of each round if you want your color changes to line up. This is a great project for scrap yarn—I found it worked best to make 2-3 rows in each color, with one “main” color that I did 6 rows of.

I added a flower behind the button, the pattern for which can be found here (<http://www.crochetgeek.com/2008/01/crochetflower1.html?m=1>). Attach the flower before the button. I sewed the middle of some of the petals down so the flower didn't stick out quite as much.

My pattern fits a Samsung J3 2018. The finished cozy is 3.5 x 6".

I use this tutorial (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rdWgcR6nIWQ>) for the seamless join.

Cozy Pattern:

R1: With H hook, ch 26, leaving a long tail for sewing, sl st to beg. (26)

R2-20: Hdc around, changing colors as frequently as desired. (26)

When your cozy has almost reached the desired height (when it is just below the top of your phone), sew on your button if you're using it, and switch to G hook. I sewed my button on around row 15, and I sewed the flower on first on that same row.

If you're using the button closure:

R21: With G hook, hdc enough sts until you're lined up with the button, then ch enough sts to make a loop to wrap around your button. On my cozy, I hdc 3 sts, then ch 25. Continue hdc in the next st (4th st in row on my cozy), hdc to end of row. (26)

If you're not using the button closure:

R21: With G hook, hdc around. (26)

Finish with the seamless join. Whip stitch the bottom closed.

Sew on flower (if using), button (if using), and/or any other embellishments you wish to add.

<http://craftyreason.com/2019/03/12/pattern-cell-phone-cozy/>

Please feel free to sell the cozies you've made and/or share this pattern, but please credit Crafty Reason and link back to the pattern either on Ravelry or on our website (<http://craftyreason.com>). Also, send me a message if you notice anything wrong with the pattern. Happy crocheting!

~Crafty Reba